Best Practice Presentation

1. Title of the Practice:

E-Content: A Futuristic Approach to Knowledge Base

2. Objective of the Practice:

- To motivate students to create educational content and multimedia productions.
- Developing materials suitable for diverse teaching- learning programs, encompassing
- Learning based on virtual classrooms and digital collaboration.

3. Context:

Online learning transcends geographical barriers associated with traditional classrooms. With widespread internet access, individuals use it for research, updated global events, and communication. Online learning provides versatile resources to teachers.

5. Practice:

E-content is based on subjects and class requirements, digitizing various learning sources, such as books, and references. These files are uploaded to the Google Drive of SDMN library, featuring folders like SPPU syllabi, academic and competitive exam e-books. The platform also provides links to specific YouTube, SPPU's ECLM portal.

6. Evidence of Success:

Regular feedback on e-Content usage is conducted, with a recent survey in which 93.6% students accessed the materials. The survey revealed the percentage-wise usage of e-content materials, demonstrating its effectiveness. 40.3% students used e-Books, 31% used PPT, and 28.3% used MCQ etc.

7. Problems encountered and sources required:

It is noted that teaching often remains theoretical and data-driven. The key challenge is transforming dry, factual data into an engaging and interactive format, enhancing the overall teaching experience.
